DAWSON CITY, YUKON

Whitehouse Cabins

The Gold Rush Cabin was built in 1897 and restored in 2005. The log cabin is an exquisite suite with an elegant rustic interior decor and it features a queen-size bed with down-filled duvet, an antique cast iron clawfoot tub bathroom with pedestal sink, a full kitchen and dining area, cable TV with DVD, and Wi-Fi.

The 1901 Heritage House is one of Dawson's oldest original Gold Rush buildings. It consists of four spacious guest rooms. Each have private front and rear entrances and sleep up to four people comfortably with either a queen or double and two twin beds.

The Riverside Cabin was constructed by Ed Whitehouse more than a half a century ago. It offers a rustic cottage atmosphere and consists of two cozy guest rooms, each with private entrances. One contains a double bed, while the other offers two twin beds.

All guest rooms include kitchenettes equipped with stoves & fridges; private entrances; bathrooms with specialty bath amenities; cable TVs & fans; a selection of teas & Yukon roasted coffee; outdoor porches or balconies & sitting areas with BBQs; recycling program with convenient disposal areas; and daily housekeeping service. All guest rooms are non-smoking.

Available services include computer station with free hi-speed Internet access & Wi-Fi; hairdryer, iron & ironing board; same day laundry service; postcards, phone cards, stamps, & convenience items available.
